This is the turning point where we'll find out where we want to go. Someone says “high school” and sometimes we groan and think of our share of fortune, failure, success, and glory. Yet, I cannot dwell on sadness and mistakes because we are in the middle of the worked road, leading to many adventures and different destinations. High school is the end of our childhood, but the beginning of our future. Forget your childhood, judgement, unnecessary drama, tears, and the enemies you once had; instead, create memories we will recall in twenty years. They are stories that we will share with new friends, family, and children. Let us make the best of everything and anything possible. Let all grudges and resentment be gone. Make a smile on your face because today is your last day. It is the beginning of yet another chapter.

Class of 2003, I hope you had the time of your life.

The life of a student was very complex. There was always so much to do. Classes had to be attended, after school activities had to be participated in and life had to go on at home. Many students didn’t do anything in or out of school and, therefore, were very bored. Many other students, however, were involved in so many activities that it was hard to figure out how they were able to get everything done that they had to do. But school was not very different from the rest of the world. There would always be those people who never seem to have anything to do and those others who were always so busy that they never had any time to do nothing.

The Homecoming Game was a time where people and their dates came to watch and cheer on their school. At this game, however, the pouring rain impeded some of the fans. The pregame began with the Euclid High School Marching Band playing the theme from “Jurassic Park”. Then as they were playing, the candidates for homecoming court were escorted across the field by their escorts.

During the game the rain couldn't stop the panther pride as fans stayed and the Marching Band played through the storm. The panther football team plowed through Lakewood and dominated the game. At halftime the panthers were leading 13-0.

The halftime show consisted of announcing the winners for Homecoming court and the EHS Marching Band show. The winners of the Homecoming court were: Dan May for King, Stephanie Svoboda for Queen, Danquan Williams for Prince, Jonita Hughes for Princess, Shivon Jackson for Junior Attendant and Brittany Oyaski for Sophomore Attendant. The Marching Band played the “1812 overture” during the halftime show and had a magnificent performance. “It was great how it stopped raining before halftime, then started again after the homecoming court was announced,” and “the cannon shots during the 1812 overture were awesome,” said George Palko.

After halftime the panthers continued to control the game. The fans showed their school and team spirit in many ways. By playing a horn, wearing face paint, or wearing a toga fans showed their panther pride. In the end, the panther football team overpowered Lakewood and came out with an impressive win with a final score of 20-0. “It was exciting and couldn’t have been a better homecoming game, especially because we shut them out,” said Archie Smith.

On Saturday, October 5, the 2002 Homecoming dance was held in the E-room ballroom. 611 tickets were sold to students attending. The dance, which had the theme “Midnight Masquerade”, lasted from 8:00 until 11:00 P.M. Tickets were sold for $15 by Student Council. The E-room and ballroom were beautifully decorated with the traditional Mardi Gras colors of purple, green and gold. Lining the ballroom walls were Mardi Gras masks, which held the names of those who attended. The columns in the ballroom looked great, strung with purple and green lights, while tons of balloons filled the air. Snacks and punch were served to all as refreshments. This year’s princess was Johnita Hughes, and Danquan Williams was the Prince. This year’s Queen was Stephanie Svoboda, while Dan May was crowned King. Brittany Oyaski was named Sophomore Attendant, and Shivon Jackson won Junior Attendant. The night was filled with dancing, including the King and Queen dance. All different kinds of music were played, and a great time was had by all. Before leaving the dance, students were given a photo album to hold their memories of the night, as well as Mardi Gras beads.

The class of 2003. After twelve years of grade school the class of 2003 got to that point that was so important to every high school student. They were now seniors. Seniors. That was an interesting term. The dictionary defines it as “older in years by twelve in 12/02” and indeed our students were the older and not the youngest rankers of all the students at LHS High School. They were the ones that excelled in most of the sports teams. They were the ones who controlled all the clubs and organizations in the school. They were the ones who had the most experience and knowledge of all the students in the school. They were the ones who had their driver’s licenses and most had cars and could go anywhere they wanted to. Most had jobs and responsibilities at home and at school. It was all relative, though, since many were planning on going to college in the fall and then they would be freshmen all over again. Even if they were not planning on some sort of post secondary education and intended on entering the work force in the fall they would begin at the bottom of the ladder in most cases and have to work their way upward. It was great to be a senior...too bad it wasn’t forever.

What was it like to be a senior? It meant lots of memorable moments since the seniors were the oldest in the school. They were the most mature. They had the most knowledge. They were the ones who were the most active both in and out of school. Most of them had jobs. Most of them enjoyed their years at Euclid. Less than half participated in school sports. Most came to school in a car. About half of them owned their own car. Most have not attended Euclid schools all their lives. Most believed it was important to be in school every day and most tried to be in school every day. Most of them lived in a house and were planning on going to college after they graduated from Euclid. They were the ones who were the most dependable when it came to getting things done. Seniors have always been the backbone of Euclid High School and the class of 2003 was no exception.

ATTENDANCE IS IMPORTANT
Most seniors believe they should be in school every day

Did you come to school every day? Most seniors believed that it was important to be in school every day. In fact, about three out of every four seniors responded that they believed that it was important to be in school every day. This was good since it meant that they recognized that school was a place where learning took place and that if they wanted an education they had to be there.

There was a tie for the teachers who received the most number of votes. Ms. Sue Amato and Mrs. Marketa President were the most popular. Tied for second place was Ms. Barbra Spiga, Mrs. Shon Smith and Mr. Bill Von Benken. Tied for third place was Mrs. Janet Federer, Mr. Jim Kelley, Ms. Diane Maroli, Mrs. Barbra Masseria and Ms. Tracy Weinhold. The second annual Powder Puff football game was held on October 16 in DiBiasio Stadium. It was a challenge for the players and the fans. The fans had to rough it through strong wind, hard rain and harsh cold, but they still had fun. The blue team started things off quickly moving into the end zone efficiently on their first possession. However, they could not keep up the momentum and by half-time the score was very close. The gold team pulled ahead in the second half and ended up winning 15-12. The cheerleaders were also a great part of the game. They had practiced together and were really able to come up with some enjoyable routines. The weather was bad but the action taking place on the field and with the cheerleaders made it a very pleasant experience for all who attended.

Most Euclid's seniors did not attend Euclid's schools all their lives. Of the seniors who responded to the poll only about 34% said that they had been in the Euclid school system all their lives. This was a very big drop from the previous year when more than 60% of the seniors said they were in the Euclid schools all their lives. When asked how many years they attended Euclid schools the largest percentage was for four years indicating that students entered the school system in the ninth grade.

Kalea Williams, Ashley Hrovat and Lindsey Woyton know that they must be in a school district for a long time to get the benefits of it.

ATHLETIC PARTICIPANT
Most Euclid students do not participate in athletics

Athletics was a very important part of the day for many students. But almost 60% of Euclid's seniors responded that they did not participate in athletic activity at the school. Not everyone finds that they have to get their satisfaction in life from competition in a sport.

ENJOYABLE TIMES
Most students enjoyed their years at Euclid High School

PLANNING ON COLLEGE
Most Euclid seniors hope to be going to college

About 78% of Euclid seniors were planning on going to college. This number was down from previous years when more than 90% said they were planning on going to college. One increasing trend was the number of students that were participating in the post secondary program where they were attending college classes while in high school. Other students were planning on going into the armed services where they could get money for attending college at a later time.

Left: Jackie Dula works hard in the Marching Band. This is good preparation for all the work she will have to do in college.
WHAT DO YOU CALL HOME?
Most Euclid seniors live in a house

Euclid had many apartments but most seniors reported that they lived in a house. 79% of the seniors who responded to the poll said that they lived in a house. This was the same percentage that reported living in a house the previous year. The American dream was always to be able to live in a house and most of Euclid’s seniors were realizing that.

Fallon Davis, Kaele Williams, Jenny Janda, Jerome Jackson and Jayson Hayes all know the advantage of living in a house.

GETTING TO SCHOOL
Most Euclid seniors come to school in a car

How did you get to school? If you were a senior you probably came in a car and you probably did the driving. 75% of the seniors said they came to school in a car and of those 52% did the driving. Last year about 81% said they came by car and 65% said they did the driving. The automobile was an important part of every teenagers life.

For many students it gave them a feeling of belonging in a group. For others it gave them a chance to improve themselves physically as well as mentally. There was a wide range of sports that were available to anyone who wanted to participate in some form of athletic event.

The 2002-2003 Euclid Football team had a rough season this year. The team finished with an overall record of 6-4, and 5-2 in the L.E.L. giving them the third place title. Great performances were shown by quarterback Delano Rodgers, running back Allen Richardson, and tackle man Jerome Jackson. An unfortunate event occurred after the fourth game when Delano Rodgers suffered a broken collarbone and was out for the season. He was replaced by Micah Coleman who got lots of experience but was not as experienced as Delano. Micah was then injured in the seventh game and was replaced by Allen Richardson. The team did not have a lot of depth at the skilled positions so everyone suffered when a player got injured. The team struggled much on offense because of the constant changing of personnel. Coach, Mike Rezzolla tried his hardest to make up for the missing players but it was not an easy task. The football season was like none Euclid had ever seen before with a girl as kicker. Senior Stephanie Svoboda kicked many field goals and extra points and contributed greatly to the team’s effort. All players did their best and helped in the team’s success.

-David Heindell

Delano Rodgers gets ready to take the snap from the center.

Stephanie Svoboda made all kinds of firsts during her senior year. She was the first girl to ever play on a Euclid football team. She was the first girl to score points for a Euclid football team. She was the first football player to be elected Homecoming Queen. It was also the first time that a Euclid Homecoming Queen kicked the winning field goal to beat Southview at their Homecoming Game by a score of 23-20.

Stephanie’s major interest is soccer, however, where she earned her third straight first-team All-Lake Erie League selection. As a senior she scored 30 goals with 11 assists. During her years at Euclid she scored 69 goals and had 18 assists. All these numbers are school records. She is also a star on the fast-pitch softball team in the spring.

The 2002-03 Boys’ golf team had a strong season and finished with a record of 8-10 in the L.E.L. and an overall record of 11-12. Their season began early in the year with the Bronko Tournament which was held on August 13. Their last outing was on October 2. Sam Morris was one of the strong players on the team when he shot a 76 at the L.E.L. Tournament which gave him a ranking of 3 out of 84. He and Pat Daly both earned Honorable Mention at the L.E.L. Tournament. Another strong player was Kevin Mulhall who was one of the strongest sophomores on the varsity team. The team was coached by Mr. Bob Torrelli and Mr. Greg Baca.

The Lady Panther Volleyball team finished their season with a record of 9-13, tying fifth place with Lakewood in the L.E.L. The girls were under the direction of coach Rhonda Scharf.

The ladies played a tough schedule, going up against such highly ranked teams as Elyria and longtime rival Mentor. One of the best played games was their last tournament game against Mentor, when Euclid came close to beating the Cardinals. Good senior leadership was shown by Adrienne Devese, Vesta Dvareckaite, Jessica Ivancic, Cory McRedmond, Angela Newell, and Kristi Tutolo. Junior Monique Drake and Jenna Herzberg were two other very valuable players who contributed greatly to the team’s effort.

This year was a great success for the Boy's Soccer team. The team finished off with a record of 9-6-2, losing in the first round of the playoffs to Cleveland Heights, 2-0. Most of the goals came from senior forward Tim Basalla and junior Chris Smith. The midfielders also played a major role in the Panthers' offense and defense. They were led by senior Greg Stahre and sophomore Dan Zudic, while senior Kurt Long, and freshman Matt Zuzic and Drew Indiano helped control the attack. Finally, the defense really showed how they could keep up with area stars and goal-scorers by playing strong. The line consisted of seniors Phil Marunowski, George Palko, and Bob Pitrowski, along with sophomore Rob Vazquez. Michael Zudic did an excellent job attending the goal.

SEASON RECORD WON 4 LOST 6 TIE 2
LEAGUE FINISH WON 4 LOST 4 TIE 2
This year, the Lady Panther Varsity Soccer Team improved their record of 6-7-3 from last year to a more acceptable 9-9. Last year, the team lost four of its starting eleven players. Those spots were filled, however, by four new freshmen, including Alyssa Kodramaz, Dana Mc Gill, Amy Barwick and Effie Stansberry. The coaching staff was also new with John Elliott as Head Coach and Marty Mackar and Alison Stahre as Assistants. They brought new objectives and ideas to the playing style, leading to the team’s overall success. All of the girls made noticeable progress and contributed something to the game. Leading the 2002 team were incredible seniors Heather Rufo, Stephanie Svoboda, Stephanie Black, Meghan Ryan, Ianthe Alatis, Nicole Mann and Johnita Hughes. This group of girls kept the team of twelve returning letter winners together and made sure the team was dedicated. Cassi Meier and Michelle Zudic were the two returning juniors. Many players from the JV team also came up to help the Varsity when needed, including Kalie Simmerer, Erin Rice, Krystal Phillips, and Julie Didomenico. Returning sophomores included Allison Montague, Rebekah Christopher, and Aimee Lorig and Stephanie Tartaglione who joined the team for the first time. The 2002 season was hard fought but unfortunately some of the girls missed parts of the season due to injuries. A huge amount of improvement was made and the future should be promising.

The 2002 Euclid Boys’ Cross Country team had a difficult year due to lack of participation. They had to suffer through many hot and dry practices and meets in order to get through the season. The runners improved throughout the season but only had a limited pool of participants to draw from. Michael Watson was the best runner on the team but there wasn’t much help from the other runners which is why the team finished well in the back of the pack and ended up 7/8 in the L.E.L. Coach, Mr. Steve Rodriguez hoped for greater participation in the future.

-Malcolm MeCauley

‘Boy is it hot!’ Angela Lynn and Cassie Taylor didn’t have to warm up very much for their race since it was so hot that day.

‘It’s lonely out here’. Mike Watson, Amelia Uter, David Disbrow and Amelia Mehtar trying to get around the course in as little time as possible.
This cross-country season was full of surprises. The season started with a team of five members, which didn’t last very long. The whole season the team was searching for depth. There were a few first year runners that made a great impact and had a great break through season. Cheryce May, a freshman, ran wonderfully all season. She placed very well in all of the races and was able to advance to regionals. Senior, Amelia Uter also had a great season along with Cassie Taylor and Amelia Mehtar. The team improved their times overall. Tiffany Compton contributed greatly to the team and is expected to perform even better next season.

Boys basketball couldn’t produce the points and had a disappointing year

It took a lot of discipline, dedication and hard work to be a part of Euclid’s basketball teams. Candidates went through 2 months of pre-season conditioning and weight lifting before they could even try out for the team. Led by Head Coach Sean O’Toole and Doc Daugherty and assistant coaches, Greg James and Jon Hammond the varsity team pursued their opponents with relentless aggression and dedication to the game. The team ended the year with a 4-18 record but they showed improvement as they progressed through the season. All of the losses were close games.

Starting players included Brandon Mimes who averaged 25 points per game, Phil Stewart, who was said to have the best jump shot on the team, John Dickinson who was only a sophomore, Sean Haynes who was assigned the task of defending the most talented player on the opposing team, Chris Seawright, Desmond Motley and Adam Lenin.

The lady Panther basketball team had an excellent season and finished with an overall record of 8-13. Although no seniors finished the season, the team had lots of young talent. Mr. Scott Wilson and Mrs. Rhonda Scharf guided the team to their success on the court. Latoya Davis and Leshay Johnson were named News Herald Players of the Week. The JV team was coached by Kim Scharf and the freshmen team was coached by Mrs. Lynn Davis. The lady panthers showed a lot of heart, refusing to give up even when the going got tough. They matured greatly as a team, and developed as players. Since it was such a young team the players should provide a strong nucleus for the next year.

Getting Better But Needed More

Wrestling quality improved but too many forfetti

The 2002-2003 Euclid Panther Wrestling Team had some bright moments but suffered in the end because of lack of participation. In many meets they had to forfeit at several weight classes and that made it very difficult the record a team win. They were only able to win one match throughout the season which was much worse than last year’s eight wins. As usual, they had good talent at some of the weight classes but couldn’t back it up in all of them. The players worked hard but there was just too little to work with.

NOT ENOUGH PARTICIPATION

The 2002-2003 Euclid Panther Hockey Team struggled during its recent season. They dealt with losing some great seniors from last year, but these spots were filled as best as possible by new players. Injuries and conflicts with opposing teams were also reasons why there was a shortage of players at times. Led by seniors Brian Ostrander, Mark Silvaggio, Brad Nagle, and Adam La Bounty, the team finished in last place in the Blue Central Division. The final season record was 8-17-1. The goal was guarded by Nick Braddock and everyone played their hardest while out on the ice. The team was coached by Mr. Frank Soltesz and Mr. Al Bartucci.

The cheerleaders were really enthusiastic when they were being taped during the VASJ game.

The cheerleaders always were smiling on the field.

The cheerleaders made signs for the football team to run through at the beginning of the game.

This year, the football cheerleaders began their season in June with a cheerleading camp at Kent State University. At camp they learned new cheers, chants and dances and improved their basic skills. They took a month off and then resumed practice in August. The cheerleaders had some great cheers for the games including the ever-popular “E-H-S cheer” in which they spell E-H-S with their poms. Kristin Pavicic and Kellie Brys were elected captains and helped coach, Janet Scott, lead the squad through a great season of cheering.

-Michelle Connavino
Football and basketball cheerleaders work to get the fans involved in the games

This year, basketball cheerleaders had the goal of creating a halftime dance by their first game against VASJ. They had very little time to do it, having just a few weeks between the end of the football season and the beginning of basketball. They did, however, get the dance completed and were able to perform it at the first game. The girls cheered on the sidelines during the game and cheered on the floor during time outs. Their halftime dance was performed to music over the PA system. Shelly Hammond and Michelle Watson were voted as captains and helped coach Janet Scott lead the squad through a successful season of cheering.

For many students 2:25 pm signaled the end of the school day and the end of their life at Euclid High School. But for many others, 2:25 pm was just the beginning of all the things that they were involved in. There were many sports and after school activities that a person could get involved in if they had the desire. Most clubs met immediately after school but there were some like Key Club which would meet in the evening. Being a member of a club was a great way to meet other people who had similar interests and enjoyed helping out around the school.

ALL THAT JAZZ!

East 222nd Street Jazz Band brings swinging music to the stag

The East 222nd Street Jazz Band presented their annual Winter Concert on Monday, December 16 in the auditorium along with the Voices of New Life Gospel Choir. The students practiced after school and in the evening in order to get ready for that concert. It gave the students a great opportunity to express themselves through their music. The group was directed by Ms. Diane Tizzano.

The Gospel Choir allows Euclid students to express their faith.

The Voices of New Life Choir was a gospel choir that allowed students to sing their hearts out and praise the Lord. Led by Mr. Clifford Beasley, the group practiced weekly to prepare for their shows. On December 16, 2002, the choir beautifully sang alongside the East 222 Street Jazz band in their Holiday Concert. They also performed in other great concerts throughout the course of the year.

-Michael Zudic
The Euclid High School Panther Marching Band began the 2002-2003 early, very early. The first day of practice was August 13th at 8:30 a.m. For two weeks they drilled and practiced their instruments and movements until show 1 was perfected. They performed Show 1 for the first 6 football games and Show 2 for the last 4. Every Thursday evening from 2:45-5:00 the band was out on the practice field working on their performances. October 11 was the first time that Show 2 was performed and it began with Thriller since that was the song they did their dance to. They ended the season with their annual script Euclid. Ms. Diane Tizzano and Mr. Christopher Scott were the directors for the group.

-Kate Kinison

Ms. Diane Tizzano liked to take pictures of the band members to keep for memories.

The percussion and the tubas gave a lot of authority to the music.

On Parent's Night the senior band members got dressed up and partied during halftime. Jackie Dula, Natalie Greene and Amanda Hayes getting ready to begin their music. When they weren't on the field the band members sat in the stands and played and cheered. Elise Hilston and Melissa Santorelli making beautiful sounds. The saxophones gave a lot of depth to the sounds. The brass gave powerful sounds.
The 2002 Flag Corps consisted of over twenty girls full of spirit. Performing with the Marching Band and Majorettes, the girls twirled their flags and danced to contribute to the excitement of the halftime shows at both home and away football games. The girls’ director was Mrs. Tammy Ewing, and senior Stephanie Nunley was head captain. Co-captains were seniors Jennifer Balogh and Kim Svoboda, as well as junior Kim Carotenuto. A highlight of the season was Senior Night, when feature twirler, Betsy Kunsman twirled with fire. The Flag Corps girls worked hard all season long, practicing after school usually twice a week and participating in fund raisers to help them out.

ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD

Band a memorable experience at the football games

The Majorettes were a group of talented, enthusiastic, young ladies that added a little zest to every football game. There were about 7-8 students in the squad. The director of the group was Mrs. Scott. She helped the girls on the squad form their lovely baton skills and their hip dance moves. These girls worked very hard to put on a great show and they really knew how to shake it up. The Majorettes really knew how to display skill with style.

-Jenna Church

The Majorettes performed in front of the band most of the time. Betsy Kunes was the feature twirler and did a lot of intricate routines with her baton.

Above and Left: The Majorettes performed with each other and with the Marching Band and the Flag Corps.
The Euclid High School Choral Masters gave their annual concert in the auditorium on Wednesday, December 11, 2002. The group was directed by Mrs. Reiko Carey and sang several Winter carols with the Varsity chorale.

Forte was a new group of singers that made their debut at the Winter Concert with the Choral Masters and the Varsity Chorale. The group consisted of Kari Longstreth, Meredith Wise, Tamika Nunley, Lisa Devor, Christina Lennon, Daniel May, George Whitfield, Jonathan Calabrese and Anthem Doolan and was directed by Mrs. Reiko Carey.

The Euclid High School's Varsity Chorale (also known as V.C.) has been a part of the music program for many years. Mrs. Reiko Carey was the current director that has taken the students and taught them how to perform to the best of their abilities. This year was the first one under Mrs. Carey's direction that they have decided to be a competition show choir. Instead of them just singing for the high school and the local community they began singing to win.

All the students that participated in V.C. dedicated a lot of time to practice. "It's all worth the time and energy. I love to perform" says Jon Calabrese (a second year member). Their routines weren't the easiest things to learn. Singing and dancing at the same time as well as they do took a lot of talent, which each member possessed. The members worked together and produced a winning season.

-Cassie Taylor
LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL

The Euclid High School Orchestra had its first performance in their annual Winter concert which was held on December 11 with the Choral Masters and Varsity Chorale. They had another performance on Thursday, February 13 at Roosevelt Elementary School. To prepare for their performances they practiced every day during school throughout the year. The group was directed by Mrs. Cathy Vetovetz who got everything together for their performances.

-Loreal Sylverttooth

The Orchestra and the Concert Band put on their usual excellent performances.

As the Marching Band season came to a close in mid-November, the doors opened for Concert Band. Directed by Ms. Diane Tizzano and assisted by Mr. Christopher Scott, band members sharpened their playing skills by practicing during homeroom, first period and after school. Various sophisticated pieces of music were practiced and performed at the winter Band Concert which was held on Wednesday, February 4 in the auditorium. A few of the selected compositions were: Raiders of the Lost Ark Medley, Riders for the flag, Prelude for Band and Orpheus Overture. The evening ended with a special reading of Martin Luther King Jr.’s “I have a dream speech, delivered by Rio Green and Daniel May, with background music performed by the band.

On Saturday, February 8 at Painesville Harvey High School there was a music competition open to all instrumental and vocal students called the Ohio Music Educators Association (OMEA) Solo and Ensemble Contest. Students competed in trio’s quartet’s and choirs as well as solos. Twenty-five students from Euclid competed and received scores of 12 “1”s, 9 “2”s, and one “3” on a scale of 1-5 with 1 being the highest. It was a great show for the Euclid music department.

Playing November 21, 22, and 23 was the Euclid Fall Play, Amateurs. Mixing comedy and drama, this two act play drew great crowds all three nights. The cast consisted of Chernita White, James Jones III, Jason Weber, Kyle Collins, Emily Kliever, Brandon Fleming, Dean Bryson, Kyle Strudtfbeck, Anthony Bagwell, Cathy Smedley and Horace. New this year were directors, Mr. Gregory Baca and Ms. Trisha Tinney. Phil Marunowski and Kevin Miklavcic worked the lights, Kalie Simmerer was the prompter and cast chauffeur, and Amber Lynch was the Student Director. The play involved the antics that a group of amateur actors went through at a party being held after the opening night of a play. It showed the different feeling and opinions that the different actors had and how they interacted with each other. Despite the short amount of time the cast had to prepare the players really pulled together, treating the audience to three great nights of laughs.

Many students showed their school spirit by being a part of Student council. Under the supervision of Ms. Sue Amato and Mrs. Sue Withers, student council was in charge of many fun and important events through the year. Though it was most commonly known for planning Homecoming and Winterfest, the council also helped with the blood drives and Harvest for Hunger. Students also wrapped Christmas presents at Borders bookstore and raised nearly $600 for Gail Casey's children. This year, Stephanie Black served as President and Amelia Mehtar was vice President. Karen Mannarino was secretary and Dan May was treasurer.

-Emily Kliever

Hat Day, Mix-Match Day, Twins Day, and Homecoming were all produced by the Student Council. They tried to get as many students involved in the activities as they could. Student Council members had to decide about themes and favors for the dances.
NJROTC helped students learn about military life

A fun program, N.J.R.O.T.C. taught students at Euclid High School to be better and more responsible citizens. After joining the group, there was no obligation to go into the military. However, those who were dedicated to serving could go into the military after graduation from high school. If they were good enough they had an opportunity to go into the military academies such as Annapolis. The students attended many drill and rifle competitions that were held throughout the year and the students had a thrilling experience both in and out of school.

SgtMajor. L. M. Isaacs and Mr. Bill Gray were in charge of the program.

The annual Winterfest dance was held on Saturday, February 22, 2003 in the E-Room ballroom from eight to eleven P.M. Student Council themed the dance “Red Carpet Affair”, with Hollywood being the basis of the decorations. The name was appropriate because there was even a real red carpet for attendees to stroll down as they entered the dance. The colors were black, red and silver. The E-Room was beautifully decorated with balloons everywhere, a huge Hollywood hills sign, a huge clapboard, and even a life size Oscar. This year’s attendance of 275 people was an increase from last year. The Winterfest Court, which was announced at the previous evening’s basketball game consisted of Jennifer Lee as Senior Attendant, Rio Green, Princess, and Tamika Nunley as Winterfest Queen. The Winterfest King was Cole Nemanic. Everyone who attended the dance seemed to have a really enjoyable time. Professional pictures were taken with an attractive backdrop, and punch and cookies were served. The DJ was the same as for Homecoming. He played a wide variety of music, from country and pop to rap and hip hop, to line dancing and alternative music. There was a large screen in the front of the ballroom that showed the music videos of the song being played at the time. Before everyone headed home for the night, each person was given a practical silver photo album and a filmstrip keychain to have as a remembrance of the wonderful evening.

AFS helps students learn about other cultures

The American Field Service (AFS) was a fun and exciting program which was led by Mrs. Pam Amos. The AFS club allowed students to learn about different cultures and societies. The AFS club was a very diverse and unique club that allowed some students to travel to other countries. The students in the club gained insights to many different countries and cultures. They learned about events occurring in other countries and how these countries developed.

The Unity team was a group of students who were interested in unifying all the different groups of students at Euclid High School. They did a lot to bring unity to the school. On January 24 they presented a "Flash Judgements" program with the Mediators group. The purpose of the program was to show how much people use first impressions to judge others. Mrs. Libby Russo and Mrs. Edie Mellen were the advisers for the group.

The Unity Team tried to get things to work together.
Mediators help students resolve differences

Were you having a problem with a fellow student and didn't want to resort to a violent approach to solving the problem? Well, the Mediation room was a place to find the help that you needed. Whether it was during or after school the peaceful atmosphere of the Mediation Room was very welcoming and helpful. Furthermore, with help from student mediators, tense situations were mitigated and conflicts between students were resolved if the process was successful. In order to become proficient, it was necessary for the mediators to practice their skills with their classmates so they could help out in the best way possible. Ms. Kathleen Mc Donnell was the adviser for the group and organizer of all their activities.

HELPING AROUND THE OFFICE
Office Aides make work easier for the secretaries

There were many different offices at Euclid including the Unit, Guidance, Registrar, Attendance, Athletic, Security and Clinic. All of the staff in the offices were here for the students but they had to communicate with the students and that was the job of the Office Aides. Every office had some aides most periods of the day. The aides were there to get the students out of their classes when they were needed by their Unit Principal, their Guidance Counselor or any other authorized person. They also helped out around the offices doing many different secretarial tasks. The Office Aides could help out if they had good grades and an available study hall.

-Crystal Sutton

Clinic Aides help out in the clinic

Want to help out in the clinic? The Clinic Aides did. These students helped the home health aides in the clinic by giving eye tests, running office slips, and helping to organize the clinic. They were responsible for delivering call slips to the classes so students could come down for their appointment. They also sat around the office and talked to the sick students and tried to make them feel better. The school was a healthier place with the clinic aides.

The Vocational Automotives course at Euclid High School was an excellent class for students who wanted to go into the automotive repair business or just learn how cars ran and how to fix them when they weren’t running. Supervised by the expert guidance of Mr. Tony Rozman, the students got all of the help they needed. Whether in the classroom or in the shop, the students were challenged daily with new car troubles. Juniors met in the morning while the seniors met in the afternoon. By the end of their second year, these young mechanics knew how to fix almost any car problem. Students going through this program would have no problem finding work in the auto-repair field.

2002-2003 saw the beginning of a new course at Euclid High School called CISCO. CISCO met three periods a day for two years and taught students the basic and complex parts of computer networking. This was an up and coming field since networking was everywhere. Computers were a part of everyone’s life and they had to be tied together so they could network with each other. This class was begun by former Assistant Principal, Mr. Justin Antonini and was taught by Mr. Roy Pignatiello. It was an honors level and very challenging class.

In CISCO the students learned the design, installation, maintenance, and management of network systems. Using CISCO routers and switches, students were taught how data was sent and managed by different devices. Students learned how to set up ftp sites, Virtual Private Networks, Web Hosting Services, etc. The concepts learned in the class would lead to a promising career in the computer industry. The students were being prepared for the CCNA test (CISCO Certified Network Associate degree) at the end of the 2 year course. The material helped the students get their Network+ certification.

SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITY
Key Club members help out in and out of school

Key Club (Kiwanis Educated Youth) was an extremely active school and community based club at the high school. Every Thursday evening the members of Key Club gathered in the Little theater for meetings filled with planning, projects and plenty of fun. Throughout the school year and into the summer members volunteered numerous hours for the betterment of their community. This year Key clubbers got involved by going to the Children’s Museum, Gateway Nursing Home, Lake Farmparks and Ronald McDonald House, in addition to organizing fundraisers for charitable causes. Leading these community service projects was President, Jacqui Greene, Vice President, Lindsey Byrne, Secretary, Jennifer Shea and Treasurer, Leslie Penko. Class representatives, Liz Miller, Natalie Greene and Brittany Oyaski also aided in making 2002-03 a successful year.

HELPING OTHER STUDENTS
 Peer Tutor Program has students helping other students

Peer tutoring was a volunteer program in which a student could help their fellow students. In the beginning of the year high achieving students received a paper asking them if they would want to participate in the program. Students responded with which subjects they would feel comfortable tutoring in. If a student was having trouble in a subject they could request a tutor by going to their counselor. The student in need was then matched up with a tutor and the tutor and tutee would meet for approximately three weeks in the library and get help. After that time the tutor received a progress report to determine whether or not the student should remain in the tutoring program or proceed on their own. Mrs. Susan Withers was in charge of the program and determined who was paired together. The peer tutoring program is worthwhile since both the tutor and tutee learned from the experience.

-Jenna Church

The library was a excellent place for the students to tutor since it was clean and quiet. The library was reconditioned during the summer of 2002 and new carpeting and desks and tables and shelves were installed.

Eucuyo was Euclid High School's literary magazine which allowed students to submit stories, poems, and art to be published into a booklet. Once submitted, Eucuyo members reviewed the works and selected the best ones to fit into the booklet. The members then typed up all the works and assembled them into the book which was published in the spring. This year saw Mr. John Aurigema taking over as adviser for the group.

ART AS A CAREER

Commercial Art students prepare for life after high school

With an everyday working environment, Commercial Art helped introduce students to the business world. Through this two-year program for juniors and seniors, students expressed their ideas in different yet all very creative ways. They used their talents to create elaborate advertisements and other forms of art by hand and with the use of computers. Their skills were put to the test when they had to make and present their portfolio which the assembled during their years in the program to either an art institute or at a job interview. Mrs. Edie Mellen was the instructor for the group.

-Negann Mobasseri
The National Honor Society was an organization for students with high academic achievement, a strong commitment to community service, and involvement in extracurricular activities. Advised by Ms. Diane Maroli, the group held monthly meetings and organized many service projects throughout the school and the community. Some projects included Kids Voting, Double Dare Challenge and wrapping Christmas presents at Border's bookstore. Tamika Nunley was the president for the 2002-03 school year.

Law enforcement was a vocational program offered to juniors and seniors. Through the program, students were able to experience what a real law officer's duties were. Students also learned how to control fights and were taught information that would be required of them if and when they planned to find a job in the field of law enforcement. Student members of the group were instructed by Mr. Nick Selvaggio.

Physical training is an important part of the law enforcement program. Students have to learn how to cope with a person who is physically aggressive.

SCIENTIFIC METHOD
Science Olympiad pits students interested in science against other schools

Science Olympiad was an activity where students were able to use their knowledge of science in competitions with other high schools. The activities that students signed up for were done individually or in groups of two. To prepare, they practiced what was needed to accomplish their activities successfully. At the competitions, students were graded on how well and accurately they did their activities. Mrs. Katie Morris was the adviser for the group.

SEE AND HEAR THE YEAR
Video Yearbook puts the year on tape

Want to see and hear many of the events that occurred during the 2002-2003 school year? Then you need a copy of the Video Yearbook. This VHS tape contained many of the events that made up the school year. Members taped many of the events that made up the year and then edited them into one continuous production that students could purchase. Mr. Roy Pignatiello and Mrs. Marketa President were the advisers for the group.

Advisers, Mrs. Marketa President and Mr. Roy Pignatiello explain what has to be done to produce the Video Yearbook. The students had to become comfortable with using video cameras and computers in order to put together all the information.
The Survey, Euclid’s newspaper, kept students, faculty, and the community informed about what went on at the high school. Students that had a passion for writing and a desire to get involved took on the responsibility for getting important news out to the student body. Overseen by Mr. Robert Petrovic, the staff consisted of a copy editor and coeditor, layout editors, business and advertising managers, photographers, and many talented reporters. They participated in the time-consuming but rewarding process of putting the paper together: assigning and writing stories, typing them into the computer, editing, arranging the stories using PageMaker, selling ads to fund the paper, and sending the finished product to the printer. Students reported on a variety of topics ranging from sports and movies to special events, with each issue including the popular Senior Panther Profile and Roving Reporter.

The Euclid High School Kids on the Block puppet troop had a very busy year. Under the instruction of Mrs. Kathy Holinski and Mrs. Margaret Nielsan, members learned scripts about subjects like ADHD, bullying, abuse and acceptance. After learning their parts the members visited schools, meetings and churches. They presented their shows along with an educational talk presented by Mrs. Holinski. Speaking through the mouths of puppets, students helped younger children learn valuable lessons about their world and how to appreciate difference.

-Anna Sudar

Mrs. Holinski explains to the members how they will interact with the puppets and what the shows will look like.

Art Club helps students get involved in art projects

Were you interested in art? If so, then the Art Club could be for you. Meeting after school students were able to work on projects that they found interesting. This was especially useful for students who were enrolled in academic classes and did not have any time during the day to take art classes. Mrs. Mary Jane Miceli and Ms. Tracy Wienhold were the advisers for the group.
Under the guidance of Mrs. Shon Smith, the Future Teachers of America Club motivated students to explore the possibility of becoming teachers. They met after school and got a real world experience by writing lesson plans and planned on visiting other teachers at different schools. The meetings were open to anyone and everyone interested in becoming educators.

Want to have fun in the Winter? If so, you should try skiing or snowboarding with the Euclid High School Ski Club. It was called a ski club but most of the members elected to ride snowboards. Students went to Brandywine Ski Resort on Thursday evenings in January and February. The program consisted of five trips by bus to the ski area where the students would get lessons each week. After the fifth week members could still go out every Thursday as long as the ski area was open but they had to find their own means of transportation. The members also received three free lift tickets that could be used for any four-hour session that the student wanted to go skiing. All of this included equipment if the person was renting. It was a great way to learn to ski or snowboard. The weather cooperated and there was lots of snow and cold temperatures throughout the Winter. Mr. Bill Von Benken was the adviser for the group.

Eucled High School's 2002-2003 drill consisted of students of all grades who knew the meaning of team work. The members strived to have positive attitudes towards their peers to get their goals accomplished and to perform well. Mrs. Jennifer Teknipp and Ms. Bowers were the team coaches and Tenisha Lloyd was the captain. The team was divided into squads, each headed by a squad leader. Performances were held at boys and girls basketball games where they performed drill steps and urban dance. The group practiced twice a week and strived to represent Euclid High School to its best ability.

Students learn about chess at chess club meetings

Like to play chess? The members of the Chess Club did. On Thursday afternoons after school many students could be found in room 393 playing chess. Mr. Barry Mita was the adviser for the group and he made sure that the students had chess sets and knew the rules and strategies of the game. It was a great opportunity for students to learn one of the classic games in the world.

S.A.V.E., or Students Against Violating the Earth was an environmental group whose members were dedicated to conserving the Earth’s natural resources. They also made an effort to educate other students about helping the environment. Through S.A.V.E., students helped recycle and learned to detect water pollution by water sampling. Ms. Keldur Greene was the adviser for the group.

MAKING GOOD DECISIONS

S.A.D.D. wants students to make intelligent choices

S.A.D.D., or Students Against Destructive Decisions, formerly known as Students Against Drunk Driving, took on this new name to encompass a more broad range of issues including not only drinking, but other substance abuse such as smoking. Ms. Andrea Gorodea was the new leader of the group, which consisted of all new members as well. These students had monthly meetings during which they discussed how to get people involved in making wise and responsible choices. Two of their main projects this year were the Blue Ribbon Week in October and the Prom Promise campaign in the spring. These students worked hard all year to accomplish their goals.

-Elise Braunschweig
The Audio Visual Club students were a main part of Euclid High School life. They taped all the major performances of the Band, Orchestra or any other show put on by the school. They did all the lighting and sound set ups for all events that occurred in the auditorium, Little Theater, gyms or stadium. They produced the morning announcements that were sent to every homeroom. In addition to that they kept the copy machines filled with paper and toner and did routine maintenance on them. They fixed problems with the TVs and overheads and other equipment in the classrooms. They were an important part of keeping the school running smoothly. Mr. Al Black was in charge of the AV students.

-Cassie Taylor

The Media Technicians have to set up an elaborate array of equipment to record all of the assemblies that Euclid students attend.
The friendly voices of the morning announcers greeted students daily during homeroom. It was their job to keep the high school up-to-date on everything happening. From telling their fellow students about upcoming events to warning seniors of college deadlines, the announcers provided cheery reminders to all to "make it a great day". New this year was the use of a monitor to display the text to be read. This was more professional since the announcers didn't have to look down to see the announcements. Mr. Allen Black was in charge of the group.

ENTERING THE WORLD OF BUSINESS

There was a good proportion of students at the high school who spent their time working after school jobs throughout the school year. Working provided money towards the many things that a teenager needed such as clothes, entertainment, cars and college. The seniors were polled as to whether or not they had a job and two thirds of them replied that they did. Most seniors worked between 10 and 30 hours every week. The students with jobs had less time to participate in extracurricular activities but they learned the value of money and how they had to work for whatever they wanted.

Every student at Euclid High School was given a locker to store his or her supplies. Students kept their textbooks, notebooks, folders, book bags, coats and everything else that was important to them in their locker. Many creative students decorated their lockers with pictures of sports stars, actors and actresses, models, different activities, and especially friends. Some students even put Christmas lights and other decorations in the little space that they had. Once in a while you might even find an old lunch in a locker.

Model UN helps students understand how difficult it is for all countries to work together. During the fall, participating juniors and seniors got the opportunity to go downtown for four days throughout the season to participate in a Model United Nations simulation for high schoolers. Dividing up into small groups of 2-4 people, students were assigned a country and were required to thoroughly research their group’s designated country. Participating in resolution caucuses, debates and lectures held at Case Western Reserve University, the actual United Nations was duplicated by these students from North Eastern Ohio schools. RECORDING THE YEAR

Yearbook allows students to remember year’s important events

With much consideration the yearbook theme chosen this year was “Time of Your Life”, commemorating the seniors last few moments together. Putting the book together took a massive effort from various individuals. The entire book was laid out on the computer using digital designs and mostly digital pictures. Almost four thousand pictures were taken and many were displayed in full color on the eighty pages of color. Mr. Bill Von Benken ran the show for the nineteenth year with help from many students working hard both during and after school.

Every year the graduating class from Euclid High School got ready to begin their lives in the outside world. How well they were prepared for that task was influenced by the faculty and staff that the students encountered almost every day while they were in high school. The staff at Euclid was in a constant state of change. There were many older teachers that were in the process of retiring so therefore each new year saw many new teachers added to the roster. 2003 was even more significant since the superintendent of schools was also new with the retirement of Dr. Kurt Stanic and the arrival of Dr. Joffrey P. Jones. All the students at the school were influenced by these old and new teachers and staff as they wound their way through their high school years.

Principal, Mr. Ronald Seymour, introduces a speaker at an assembly.
A lot of changes took place in the administration of the high school between the Spring of 2002 and the Fall of 2002. Mr. Justin Antonini retired and was replaced by Mrs. Claudia Spencer as Associate Principal. This also meant that Mrs. Tina Elliott was brought up and became the Twelfth Grade Unit Principal. In the Guidance Department there were also several changes. Mrs. Audree Fox retired and was replaced by Mrs. Karen Brown. Mrs. Brenda Barker also retired in June of 2002 but her replacement didn’t come through so Brenda returned to Euclid after her two month ‘retirement’ and took over her former counseling duties. All the counselors worked hard to try to get their students into the classes that were the best suited for them.

Athletic Director, Tom Banc, discusses events with some coaches.
One of the purposes of the high school was to supply information and guidance to the students at the school. The students entering Euclid High School as freshmen were mostly immature and unknowledgeable of the ways of the world. It was the purpose of the staff to change these students into the more mature and knowledgeable young men and women who graduated and would take their places in the adult world. Euclid’s staff did that by setting good examples of behavior learning patterns and imparting useful knowledge. High school students experienced thousands of events as they passed through their tenure at Euclid. These events made them into the people they would become. The staff at Euclid did much to influence what these students would become.

The underclass was the largest part of the school. It consisted of the ninth, tenth and eleventh grades. There was a great amount of maturing that went on during those three years. Ninth graders entered the school with an awe struck attitude about the overwhelming size of the school and by the end of their junior year had matured into individuals that had a great understanding of how the school functioned and were a participating part of the life at Euclid High School. For many of the students this was the best times of their lives.

Right: Members of the volleyball team has a lot of fun competing with other schools on the court. They worked hard and tried to work together on the court.

Far Right: Shawn Patherise watching the quarterback to see where the play is going.

Right: The members of the JV soccer team move the goal into position so the game can begin.

Far Right: The JV cheerleaders got to cheer in the daylight since the JV games were in the morning. They worked hard to get all their moves together. As the season progressed they got a chance to cheer at some varsity games.

Ben Perpar coming around the end of the line for a nice gain for the freshmen team. Ben is enjoying the times he is having at Euclid High School.

Mr. Robert Heramb wants these freshmen to understand all the available opportunities that are present at Euclid High School.

Far Left: The soccer team meets with their opponents before the game is about to begin. The players will have many fond memories of what happened on the field.
Being a junior was sometimes a problem for high school students. They had been at the school for several years so they knew the lay out of the building and the rules for getting along with the teachers and their peers, but they were not at the top of the pecking order. That would have to wait for another year. Many hard working juniors were able to achieve status in school organizations but they were still just juniors and, therefore, were not treated with the same respect as seniors. Many worked hard and looked forward to their senior year when they would be at the top of the ladder. These were years when many memories were formed that would last forever.
Chernita White and Shantele Cole came to school dressed as twins.

Mia Shy getting off one of her powerful serves.

Monique Drake sets the ball up for her team mates to play.

Shivon Jackson slams the ball over the net.

The Varsity Chorale consisted of many juniors participating in school activities.

Julie Didomenico, Ann Sivert, Allie Montague and Aimee Lorig came dressed to promote the candidacy of Stephanie Svoboda for Homecoming Queen.

EGGIE Dabbs showed how ambition is important in student’s lives

On November 21, 2002 Mr. Reggie Dabbs gave a motivational talk to the seniors and juniors in the auditorium while the other classes viewed him in their homerooms. Reggie has talked to Euclid High School students before and they have always enjoyed his combination of musical talent and humor. He talked about how he began as an adopted child with nothing and became a celebrated speaker. He was able to get everyone in the audience involved with what he was saying.

Reggie took some teachers from the audience and showed them how to rap.

Being a sophomore was a great feeling at Euclid High School. By the time students became sophomores they knew their way around the building and could get to classes on time. The maturity level also increased and most of them had an idea of what they were interested in and the kinds of classes that they should be taking. Students were becoming interested in activities and were participating in more activities. They were doing things that they would remember all their lives. They were becoming real people.

Linda Berry and Stephanie Tartaglione enjoy playing sports.

Scott Sattler had lots of memories of his days on the field.

Some sophomores enjoyed getting dressed up for spirit days.

Zavinta Maleckaite and Alisa Medenis had many happy moments together discovering things in class.

Stephanie Maxwell and Halle Ivancic will always remember their fun times on the volleyball court.

Craig Stigamier, Cathy Smelley and Andrew Kramer working in the laboratory. Drill team practicing. Mediators learning.

Greg Ehrhardt and Albert Estvander enjoyed recreation by playing chess with the chess club.

Boy is this place big!”, was a remark heard many times the first few weeks that the freshmen were at Euclid High School. The freshmen were the youngest and smallest of the students in the school and at times found the building overwhelming. Many mistakes were made as the freshmen roamed throughout the halls in search of their classes. When seniors wrote about their most embarrassing moments many of them during their freshman year when they were unfamiliar with the building. Large changes occurred as freshmen matured as they became upperclassmen. There were many memories that the students would carry with them throughout their lives.

The freshmen were an integral part of the life at Euclid High School.

The freshmen football team worked well together and finished the season with an excellent record.

Jamal Janey gained many yards and made a valuable contribution to the freshman team.

Brittany Shy did an excellent job at second singles of the tennis team.

Effie Stansberry was a valuable asset for the soccer team.

The girls on the volleyball team worked hard together.

The nice thing about a yearbook that came out in the Spring was that everyone was still in school and students were together and could reminisce about the year and have friends sign their yearbooks. The problem with a Spring yearbook was that all the events that occurred after the final deadline at the beginning of March could not be included in the book. Because of that, this memories section shows events that occurred at the end of the 2001 school year.

AP chemistry students watch water vapor being condensed out of the atmosphere as liquid nitrogen is poured down the stairs.

On April 26, 2002 the music department held a concert for Dr. Kurt Stanic who was retiring from the Euclid Schools after 13 years as Superintendent. The Orchestra, Band, Jazz Band, Choral Masters and Varsity Chorale held a goodbye ceremony for him. The sign reads "THANK YOU DR. STANIC!" but is difficult to read in B&W since every other letter was yellow.

Big Show was presented on March 14, 15 & 16 in the auditorium. The play was Footloose.

The softball team worked hard to accomplish much in the Spring.

Jarod Miller and Dave Harrold were members of the boy’s tennis team that played in the Spring.
On April 9, 2002, Harvey Alston spoke to the juniors and seniors in the auditorium. He talked about being motivated and being successful in life. He had students come up from the audience to hold letters representing ideas they should follow.

Left: On March 28, 2002, the day before Spring Vacation began, Student Council sponsored its annual senior vs faculty basketball game. It gave the faculty a chance to show off their abilities to the seniors.

Right: On April 13, 2002 Euclid presented its annual Fashion Show to show what students should be wearing. It turned out to be much more than a fashion show since there was singing and food.

Left: On May 23, 2002 the Art Department sponsored its annual Art Show showcasing the students works on the auditorium stage.

Below: Commencement occurred on May 31, 2002 at the Palace Theater

Below Right: On May 9, 10 & 11 Euclid presented its annual Spring Play entitled Expect Respect.

Far Left: Prom was held at Landerhaven on Friday, May 17.

Left: The Senior Awards Assembly was held in the auditorium on Tuesday, May 21.
The 2002 Panther baseball team had a tough year and finished with a 15-11-1 overall record. The good news was that they had an L.E.L. record of 5-3 which was good enough for second place. The season was a wet one with lots of rain delays and soggy field conditions.

FAST PITCH SOFTBALL IMPROVING

The 2002 varsity softball team had the best season in the Euclid's fast pitch history, despite having to overcome a coaching change and infielder's injury early in the season. Mr. Ron Zucca and Mr. Greg James coached the varsity team this year, with the help in the playoffs from Mr. Sam Santilli and Mr. Craig Haywood. The girls had a record of 14-13, which met and surpassed the goal of having a .500 win record set in the preseason. The girls also beat their goal of making it to the district tournament, which they took a second place in and they had the best record of any girls' varsity team in the school this year. The team was made up of twelve talented players: seniors, Maria Gaglione, Christina Hagenbaugh, Vickie Ott and Ekria Stahre; juniors, Stephanie Krofcheck, Nicole Mann, Cory Mc Redmond, Heather Rufo, and Stephanie Svoboda; sophomores Amanda Raymond; freshman, Tiffany Compton and Stephanie Tartaglione.

The 2002 Boy's outdoor track team worked hard but found it hard to dominate the league and finished the season with a 4-3 record. They suffered somewhat since they did not have the dominating athletes that they had in the past. Because of that the team did not do well in the big meets finishing in the middle of the field.

Jim Kolenc clears the bar in the high jump.

The 100 m sprint was a fast race with most of the finishers close to one another.

Boy’s tennis struggled through many shutouts

The Boy’s Tennis Team had difficulties and struggled through the season, realizing that their competition was much tougher than they had expected. They began their season practicing indoors at Club Ultimate in Eastlake. Dana Banc coached the boys this year and led them to a 3-9 overall record for the L.E.L. Seniors Dave Harrold and Jarod Miller led the team in their victories. The boys all showed great improvement and are looking forward to a better season next year.

Fashion Show showed off senior’s talents

Bob Gecewich and Segundia McPherson were the emcees for the show.

Diondre Smith, Nicole Pritchett, Carla Smith and Jasmine Oliver dancing.

Nicole Pritchett, Chris Hongosh, Robert Hudson, Kevin Estes, Elana Wells, Sam Smyth, Tierra Mitchell and Raymel Early looking good.

Matt Scalese, Joe Zuzic and Joe Cipo dressed for the Prom while Mrs. Marketa President talks about the fun she had with the Fashion Show.

The seniors were in Prom bid trouble and, with less than two months left, they were running out of fund raising time. The bid was up to $175 per couple, but Mrs. President had a vision that would bring the prom bid down to $130. That vision was of a successful fashion show with a big turn out. The turn out was in fact very big being that a lot of well known and popular people were going to be in it, also the free barbecue didn’t hurt either.

The fashion show opened with Segundia Mc Pherson and Robert “Bob” Gecewich as the emcees for the evening. With Segundia’s style and beauty and Bob’s laid-back humor, they were the perfect duo for hosting the show.

There were six main parts to the show separated as follows: Prom Scene, Party scene (also after prom), 60’s, 70’s, 80’s, and 90’s. To get you thinking about Prom night and the mood that came with it, there was a duet sung by Marcus Epps and Catrera Dean. The scene was filled with different colors and style tuxedos worn by the gentlemen as well as surprising and subtle dresses worn by the ladies. It was a great way to start the show and really set the pace for the rest of the night’s festivities.

After the Prom scene came the after Prom scene better known as the Party scene. After the random dancing segments there was the Soul Train line which included imitations of Brandy by Laniece Richardson and Usher by Robert Hudson. After this there was a performance by the Euclid High Drill Team and a solo performance from Elana Wells singing Whitney Houston’s “I Will Always Love You”.

The 60’s Scene consisted of an Austin Power’s skit by Chris Hongosh and the 70’s Scene with an excellent imitation of Shaft by Michael Reeves. The 80’s Scene had two Michael Jackson dance video imitations: “Billy Jean” by Jerry Gatewood and “Beat It” by Carla Smith. Also a spectacular Madonna impression was done by Jennifer Cope.

The last scene to the show was the 90’s Scene which included a show stopping performance of “Rhythm Nation” led by Tierra Mitchell as Janet Jackson. This was the scene in which Mrs. President almost danced herself to death.

After the show was a barbecue party in the cafeteria with a deejay. A lot of dancing and eating was going on and it set the tempo for the Cotton Club afterwards.

The senior-Faculty basketball game was another fund-raiser that Student Council had to help pay for Prom.
KEEP THE FEET MOVING

From the exciting dance club opening to the closing prom scene, the 2002 Big Show, Footloose, was probably one of the best in recent EHS history. It included high energy performances of such eighties hits as "Footloose" and "Let's Hear it for the Boys" while telling the story of Ren, a teen from Chicago who moves to Beaumont, a small town in Texas where dancing was outlawed because of a local tragedy years before. Ren fights for the trust of the people in the town, freedom and the right to throw a dance with the rest of the local teens including Ariel, the preacher's daughter. The two teens end up finding love between themselves. This year's cast was amazingly talented and included Alison Baranowski as Ariel and Marcus Epps as Ren, along with Anthem Doolan as Reverend Shaw Moore, Leslie Penko as Vi Moore, Austine Clark as Ethel McCormick, Daniel May as Willard, and Alana Purvis as Rusty. The incredibly talented supporting cast and chorus of singers and dancers along with stage crew and pit orchestra helped to make Footloose an amazing show.

LEARNING TO RESPECT OTHERS
Spring Play gave insights into student interactions

The 2001/2002 Spring Play was entitled Expect Respect: Healthy Teen Relationships. The play was written by Willie Thomas and the Thames Valley School District. Edited by Molly Cornwell of Hathaway Brown School. The play was performed in the little theater on May 10th and 11th at 7:00pm. The price to see the play was four dollars for everyone. The play was performed by Jennifer Walker, Katie Sivik, Jessica Morris, Cathy Smedley, Stephen Manes, Daniel May, Kyle Collins, and Jason Weber. Directing the play again was Mrs. Tina Peterson and Brigid Sars-Gaunt as the student director. The play taught the audience how to deal with relationships without losing self-esteem, respect for others, and personal dignity.

AWARDING THE SENIORS

Seniors gained much recognition

The Senior Awards Program took place in the auditorium on Tuesday, May 21. This ceremony recognized many students with over 80 awards and scholarships. The graduating class of 2002 received over 1.1 million dollars in scholarships and achievements. The program was led by Principal, Mr. Ron Seymour, and Associate Principal, Mr. Justin Antonini.

In the 2002 Senior Art Show, seniors displayed their works throughout Euclid High School. This gave them a chance to share their work with the community and gave them a chance to experience what it was like to take part in a professional art show. The students also had an opportunity to sell their works. Most seniors felt that it was an enriching experience. The Art Show was a great way to show off Euclid’s artistic talents and the excellent art department Euclid offered to its students.

Tamika Nunley

Retiring at the end of the 2001-2002 school year was Mr. Justin Antonini, Associate Principal. He began teaching here in the 1970’s and taught 13 years in the English department before going into administration where he was for the past 18 years. He began his teaching career in the Cleveland Public School system. He was one of the most sociable of the administration, attending every function, and just dropping in from time to time. Other faculty who retired in 2002 were Ms. Veronica Stadler, Mr. Jeff Hartmann, Mr. Dan Stucki, Ms. Kathleen Coolick, Ms. Audrey Fox, Ms. Brenda Barker, Ms. Ellen Klein, and Ms. Barbara Spiga.

THE LAST BIG DANCE

Prom was the big formal end to the year

The 2002 Prom was held at Landerhaven. Many couples attended the extravagant event and had a great time. After arrival and taking their pictures, dinner was served buffet style, which wasn’t common in past years. Many students had mixed opinions about this new procedure. The students had a fun time at afterprom. All the students who attended prom had the time of their lives.

-Jenny Janda
Jessica Ivancic

Ante Krizan and Anita Grignic had a good time at the Prom.

Chris Harrell came home from Penn State to go to the Prom with Tierra Mitchell.

Trayce Stewart, Dearmis Hill, Caitlin Proctor, Sten Vernier, Liz Gudaitis, Cameron Sharp, Dino Zuzic, Erika Stahre, Jacqui Greene and John Koeth enjoyed themselves while meeting classmates. Students had an excellent meal while at the Prom.

Dan May and Brigit Sarns-Gaunt enjoyed being with their English teachers, Ms. Susan Amato and Ms. Barbara Spiga.

Christina Hagenbaugh, Matt Fisher, Brian Babyak, Laura Osterman, Tunisha Jenkins, Brandon Kizer Dominique Drake and Chris Smith all looked very attractive.
GETTING STARTED
Seniors ready to go out into the real world

Commencement was held at the Palace Theater on Friday, May 31, 2002 at 7:00 pm. The graduating class processed in as “Pomp and Circumstance” was played. The Varsity Chorale, Choral Masters, and Voices of New Life sang the National Anthem, the Alma Mater, and a farewell selection. Superintendent, Dr. Kurt Stanic, principal Mr. Ronald Seymour, began the evening with introductions and short speeches. Salutatorian, Matthew Fisher, gave his speech and reflected upon his memories and experiences at EHS. Valedictorian, Kari Cunningham, presented her speech and stressed the meanings and importances of time. She quoted many profound educators and defined time in many dimensions. The evening concluded with the award of the diplomas and the acceptance of the class of 2002. The graduates processed out and were ready to begin living a whole new time of their life.

Myron,
Our first born. We never imagined that a little ‘green’ baby would bring us so much joy. Watching you transform from a chubby little boy to a handsome young man has been bitter/sweet. It’s difficult imagining college already, especially when we can remember changing your diapers.(smile)
Myron, you have been such an integral part of our daily lives that we are not ready to change it with distance.
However, we know that God will continue to look after you and has already began preparing you for the future away from home.
Not only will we miss you, but so will your little sister, family and friends. You have been an inspiration and motivation to many and we thank you for that. We also thank you for being God-fearing, compassionate, and always ready and willing to help others.
We are very proud of you, love you dearly and support you now and forever. Always remember to keep God first and everything else will fall into place.
Love and God Bless,

My dearest Veronica, It is said that middle children have a harder time in life. I personally think that middle children are destined to success, happiness and love, simply because they have to scratch and scrap along the road less traveled. This road, albeit difficult, allows them to experience trials and adversity as well as excitement and wild-eyed wonder and surprise. They learn to appreciate all the world has to offer and at the end of their journey find that they have Lived Well-Laughed Often- and have Loved and Been Loved Much along the way. My child, you have only started down this road, but I am proud of the progress you have made on this journey we call life.

I remember bringing you home from the hospital looking like your dad. You were my little girl then and now you’re all grown up. We have had good and bad times. During our hard times, when I felt like giving up, God’s grace and mercy brought us through. I have raised and taught you to the best of my ability and I see it has all paid off. I want you to know it gives me great joy to have you as my loving daughter. I am very proud of you and your many accomplishments. You have been and always will be the joy of my life. It won’t be easy, but the time has come that I must let you go. I know the path you take will be your own, I will always be here for you. Always remember God will give you the strength to do all things. I wish you much success and the very best. Congratulations!

As you go your separate ways always remember the special days. From the special days always remember the special moments - the dances, the parties, the clubs, the activities, the teachers, the friends, and the academic goals you have achieved. Remember being a four year majorette, and a cheerleader. Always feel honored that you were selected Captain of the majorettes and the cheerleaders in your junior year. What a memorable senior year!

The thrill and the excitement of participating in the 2002-2003 Capitol One Bowl half time show as a majorette in Orlando, Florida. The endless pride and the fun you had experiencing one of your best friends being elected as Homecoming Queen. You both made front page news! Now it is time for you to close your locker for the last time. As you walk down the hall and out the door you will be taking with you all your knowledge and accomplishments. Know you are going forward with the love and support of your family and friends. You are truly a wonderful and special person. We are all VERY proud of you.

Love,
Mom

I hope you never lose your sense of wonder You get your fill to eat But always keep that hunger. May you never take one single breath for granted. God forbid love ever leave you empty handed. I hope you still feel small When you stand by the ocean. Whenever one door closes, I hope one more opens. Promise me you’ll give fate a fighting chance. And when you get the choice to sit it out or dance, I hope you dance. I hope you never fear those mountains in the distance. Never settle for the path of least resistance. Living might mean taking chances But they’re worth taking. When you come close to selling out Reconsider. Give the heavens above More than just a passing glance. And when you get the choice to sit it out or dance I hope you dance.

Love Always,
Mom & Dad

Netta V. Shaw,
When you were born, we all were so happy, just to know our beautiful baby girl had arrived into the world. Before you came there were already four brothers, and all our lives were not the same. We all love you so much, you’ve made us all proud. The world is a challenge, but you’ll make it far if you continue just as you are. With your many accomplishments, we know you’ll go far, because truly you’re our shining star, and beautiful you are.

It’s hard to believe how fast time has flown by. It seems like only yesterday we were bringing you home from the hospital “our little miracle”. And now, here you are graduating and starting a new part of your life. We are so proud of you. You have brought so much joy, happiness and laughter into our lives. God has blessed you with many talents and intelligence, compassion and sensitivity. I pray you’ll continue to use them for God, and that He will keep working through your life. Whatever you do, always do your best and work hard and you’ll succeed. But, most of all, keep God first in your life and trust in Him and He will guide you. Always remember Proverbs 3:5,6 and Phil. 4:13. I’m excited to see what plans God has for your life. God bless you and keep you in His care wherever life takes you. We will always be here for you and we love you very much!!

As a little boy, you built your toys
Of Lego’s and Building Bricks,
You built them tall, you built them wide
Your imagination ticks.
Your sense of humor was always here (and still is)
Those goofy smiles everywhere.
Never having a care.
Always marching to your own tune. (A jazzy trumpet tone)
No one ever to change your mind soon.
Marched on EHS field and on their stage-
Into everyone’s hearts-
You always amaze.
You’re grown now, Ready to take flight
New adventures; take things to new heights.
Keep building your dreams wide and tall.
Keep your sense of humor, Thank God for it all.
Remember your humble beginnings but most of all...
Remember how much your Dad and I love you and support you in all you do
In addition, your sister too! We are family!
Always keep God’s peace inside you and remember WWJD!
WE LOVE YOU

CLOSING

Colophon

Jostens Printing and Publishing Division at State College, Pennsylvania printed 460 copies of the 2003 Euclidian. The pages were printed on Gloss 191 paper stock and included 80 pages of full color. All pages were created using Adobe PageMaker 7.0 running on a Macintosh G3 computer at the beginning of the year and then a Macintosh G4 computer after Winter break. The operating system was converted to OS X 10.2.3 with the G4 but PageMaker had to run in Classic mode since there were no OS X versions produced. The G4 had 1 GB of RAM and a 120 GB hard drive and all files were backed up onto a pair of fire wire drives connected to the G4. A 21” color, two page monitor working with a 17” flat screen monitor made page layouts much easier. An iBook lap top computer was also used to take data back and forth between school and home. Almost all of the pictures in the yearbook were digital. Most were taken with a Nikon D100 SLR digital camera with others being taken with either a Nikon Coolpix 990 or Coolpix 995 digital camera. The images were processed with Adobe Photoshop 7.0 or with Adobe PageMaker 7.0. Microsoft Excel was used to make charts and keep databases for the students. The index was produced using Jostens Last Name First program. Copy was printed out on either a Hewlett Packard 970Cse Inkjet or HP III Laser or HP 3330 Laser printer. All the pages were sent to Jostens on CD ROMs since floppy disks can’t hold enough information. The cover was designed by the Jostens Art Department. Pages were submitted to the plant on five deadlines; November 1, November 29, December 20, January 31 and February 28. Since the final deadline was in late February nothing that occurred after that time could be included in the book. The pages were submitted in double page spreads. The picture patron option was again very popular with eighty-five students having their pictures included on more than thirteen pages. New this year was the picture patrons being in full color. Also a high percentage of the students ordered their yearbook with their name imprinted on the cover for easy identification. Some students ordered the two CD set of digital pictures that contained most of the pictures that appeared in the yearbook in full color plus many others that didn’t make it into the book. The files were stored in JPEG format and were accessible using most computers.

Thank You

The 2002-2003 school year is history. Many interesting and significant events occurred during that time and the Euclidian tried to cover as many of them as possible. This was difficult due to the limited staff. If we missed something, we are sorry. We sincerely apologize for any errors or omissions that occurred in the book but this is a single printing of a high school yearbook and errors will occur.

Staff

Many people helped in some way with the 2003 Euclidian. Some wrote stories while others worked on the laying out of the book. Jessica Ivancic and Jenny Janda did a lot of work with imputing stories and making up the lay outs. Michael Zudic did a lot of story writing and helped with laying out the pages. Other students who helped in various ways were Maria Tahir, Anisa Kristollari, Alisa Medenis, Chynell Granan, Emily Kliever, Negean Mobasseri, Jenna Church, Daniel Zudic, David Heindell, Robbie Vazquez, Natalie Greene, and Kate Kinison.
